

Readers' Round Table

An informal group for book lovers

Looking for something good to read? Welcome to Readers' Round Table, a monthly meeting for book lovers. Here's a chance to share a bit about the books you read and fill up your "to-be-read" list with recommendations by your peers.

Each month you'll get a short list of themed books for inspiration. Choose a title to read and share the following month. You are welcome to share whatever great book you have read, regardless of whether it fits the monthly theme. The lists are merely a starting point.

Not sure how to "book talk"? It's easy. Simply tell us a bit about the book (story, characters, setting) and who might enjoy it (mystery lovers, history buffs, etc.). Remember, don't give away the ending!

We're meant to be an informal, fun, and friendly setting. We won't judge you. All reading is welcome: audiobooks, nonfiction, graphic novels, etc. Come share your latest book crush with us.

Starts Tuesday, September 19 at 2 p.m.
Theme: Reader's Choice – a book that moved you
