

City of Dublin Launches Small Business Navigator Program

The City of Dublin has launched the Small Business Navigator Program, a new initiative aimed at providing small businesses in the city with free technical support to assist with their sustainability and growth. The program is part of the City's Business Recovery Playbook and aims to provide timely, relevant, and specific support and expertise to local businesses.

The program provides small businesses with access to qualified service providers in key functional areas, such as business planning and development; marketing and advertising; architecture and space design; technology consulting; and more. The program also provides legal services; human resources and management; financial guidance; and other general services.

To be eligible for the program, businesses must have a brick-and-mortar location in the City of Dublin, possess an active City business license, have fewer than 50 full-time employees, and be independently owned. Requests will be reviewed on a first-come, first-served basis, and accepted on a rolling basis until program funding has been exhausted. Applications are now being accepted.

Strengthen Your Cybersecurity

Cyberattacks cost the U.S. economy billions of dollars a year and pose a threat for individuals and organizations. Small businesses are especially attractive targets because they have information that cybercriminals (bad actors, foreign governments, etc.) want, and they typically lack the security infrastructure of larger businesses to adequately protect their digital systems for storing, accessing, and disseminating data and information.

Surveys have shown that many small business owners feel their businesses are vulnerable to a cyberattack. Yet many small businesses cannot afford professional IT solutions, have limited time to devote to cybersecurity, and don't know where to begin.

Start by learning about common cybersecurity best practices, understanding common threats, and dedicating resources to address and improve your cybersecurity.
